LAST SPECIAL PRIZE AWARDED LAST WEEK

Won by Miss Louise Melton, Miss Louise Counts and Miss Vida Counts.

Miss Louise Counts secured the greatest number of new subscribers which entitled her to the silver vanity purse offered by Rogers, the jeweler.

Miss Vida Counts having brought to The Herald and News contest manager the greatest number of renewals, received the Robinson prize, a silver fern dish.

Gilder and Weeks offered a cut glass sugar and cream pitcher to the contestant selling the most coupons for job printing and advertising during week ending December 13. This prize was won by Miss Louise Melton.

Now girls what do you intend doing, sit down and rest, or keep constantly after the votes? There is only one way to do—if you are at the top you have got to work to stay there, for with the scale of votes doubled the one at the bottom could easily beat you to first prize.

Again this week until the close we will give 2,000 votes to the dollar for job printing and advertising.

Work for the clubs—in that way you take advantage of the bonus offers.

It is necessary that you communicate with Mrs. Bullock every day all the close in order that you may receive every possible assistance in winning these four grand prizes.

Last Publication of Votes.

The standing of the contestants will not be published after today—no information whatever will be given as to the number of votes any other contestant has. Of course the manager will be glad to tell you exactly each day how many you have—but you will not know the standing of the others.

Competent Judges—No Partiality.

There can be no partiality or error in the count of the votes with such men as M. L. Spearman, E. A. Griffin and J. Y. McFall as judges.

Ballot Box at Savings Bank.

The ballot box is placed today at the Savings Bank, all votes when issued by the manager and bearing her signature must be deposited in the box after today.

Promptly at 3.30 p. m. Friday the box will be unlocked by the manager and the count will be made by the judges just named.

No one will know the winners till 8.30 p. m., when they will be announced at the Arcade picture show.
